

REPUBLICAN SPEAKERS URGE DEFEAT OF ROOSEVELT AND
ELECTION OF ENTIRE REPUBLICAN TICKET; WARNS VOTERS
OF DISREGARD OF 3RD-TERM TRADITION AND DICTATORSHIP

Bucks County Republican Committee Meets in Annual Session at Doylestown, at Which Time Officers Are Elected—Candidates on State Ticket Address Gathering Which Fills Armory to Capacity—Loyal Republican Club Band Furnishes Music.

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 30—Bucks County committeemen and committeewomen, along with friends and supporters of the Republican party in Bucks County, crowded into the armory here Saturday afternoon, assembling in annual session. Officers were chosen, and numerous speakers spoke in behalf of those who are candidates on the Republican ticket. The armory was festively decorated in the national colors and pictures of the candidates decked the walls. A large American flag was draped above the platform.

The meeting was called to order promptly at 2.15 by Edward B. Watson, secretary of the Bucks County Republican Committee. Mr. Watson presided in the absence of A. Harry Clayton, chairman, who is ill. It being established that a quorum was in attendance the calling of the roll was dispensed with. Music was provided by the band of the Loyal Republican Club of Buckingham. The band, composed of youths, was uniformed in attractive suits of red, white and blue.

Among the speakers were Jay Cooke, candidate for United States Senator; James F. Malone, Jr., candidate for State Treasurer; Frederick T. Gelder, candidate for Auditor General; Charles L. Gerlach, candidate for re-election as Representative in Congress from the Ninth Congressional District; Thornton G. Lewis, president of the Wilkie Clubs of Bucks County, and W. James MacIntosh, Esq., of Philadelphia. Others presented to the meeting and who spoke either briefly or merely acknowledged greetings were: Mrs. Ada Buckman, chosen as vice-chairman of the county committee; Mrs. John W. Cooper, president of the Bucks County Council of Republican Women; Hon. Thomas B. Stockham and Hon. Wilson L. Yeakel, candidates for re-election as members of the Pennsylvania Legislature from Bucks County, and Mrs. Hannah Durham, of Lehigh County.

All of the present officers were re-elected to head the county committee for another year. They included A. Harry Clayton, chairman; Mrs. Ada Buckman, vice-chairman; Edward B. Watson, secretary, and Miss Eleanor D. Worthington, assistant secretary.

Congressman Gerlach in opening his address referred to two years ago when he appeared before the County Committee and asked for the support of the members and "was honored by election as representative from the 9th Congressional district to Congress." The congressman said that since his election he had given 100 per cent of his time to the duties of the office and that it was his opinion that all public office holders should devote 100 per cent of their time to the service of their constituents.

"Two years ago we who were gathered here were 100 per cent for peace and economic recovery. We were for more business in government and less government in business," stated Congressman Gerlach.

In the opinion of the congressman the two major issues facing the American people today are:

"National defense and economic recovery."

covery." He said that "if we have a strong national defense we would command the respect of other nations and it would be our best insurance for peace."

"If we have jobs at good wages so that our people will be kept busy our people will be a satisfied people."

"The New Deal has failed to give us either," said the speaker.

"Billions have been wasted through ill advice and mismanagement."

Then attacking the proposal of the Roosevelt Administration that the Export-Import bank should loan $500,000,000 to the 21 South American countries, Congressman Gerlach said that over a billion is now owed to us by these countries and that "many of them have defaulted in their payments."

The suggestion that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation invest 300 million dollars in a steel plant in South America "is wrong," he said. "When we have 10 million of unemployed in this country, that steel plant should be in the United States of America."

The plan to set up a tin smelting plant in Bolivia was attacked by the speaker who argued that a smelting plant should be built in this country where it would give employment to Americans.

Congressman Gerlach said "let us loan money to all 21 South American countries for the purpose of providing the United States with those strategic materials which we lack and do not have and not for those materials of which we have a surplus in the United States."

The proposed cartel of 500 million dollars for the western hemisphere to purchase the surplus products of that area and for which we would then become the selling agents, is not considered good business by Congressman Gerlach, when we have such huge surpluses of cotton, corn and wheat in this country. "The bill has not as yet appeared in Congress," he said.

The huge gold and silver stocks stored in this country were dwelt upon by the Congressman who told how three-fourths of the gold in the entire world had been bought in by the New Deal and was stored at Fort Knox; how Roosevelt purchased silver also at a premium. The premiums alone on the gold and silver purchased cost us $5,000,000,000 to say nothing of the metal itself. The silver stock stored being about one-fifth of the world's silver supply. "That money could have been spent for national defense," in the opinion of Congressman Gerlach.

"The way to provide for national defense and the national welfare of 132,000,000 people is to elect the entire Republican ticket," concluded the speaker.

Speaking personally, Congressman Gerlach asked for the support of the people of the Bucks-Lehigh district.

To Make Alliances With Russia

Rome, Sept. 30—Unless Great Britain capitulates speedily, Germany and Italy plan military alliances with Soviet Russia and Spain in pursuance of a scheme for establishment of a "new order" throughout Europe, Asia and Africa, it was learned today.

Germany Plans for Evacuation of Children

Berlin, Sept. 30—Germany today set in motion a plan for optional evacuation of children from air-raided areas of the Reich.

Announcement of the plan was made after residents of Berlin once more spent nearly two hours in air-raid shelters, although no bombs were dropped upon the capital.

The evacuation plan will affect areas in which parents feel the health of children may be injured. It was stressed that the plan is in no way compulsory and leaves the decision up to parents alone.

Terrific Dog Fights Rage

London, Sept. 30—Terrific dog fights raged on the southeast English coast this afternoon as British war planes fought desperately to stop a giant German aerial armada from carrying out a mass attack on London.

As an estimated several hundred German raiding planes sought to blast their way through the coastal defense, air raid warnings screamed in the British capital three times today. The last alarm was the 142nd of the war.

Preliminary reports reaching the capital indicated that the Nazi raiders were being frustrated in their attack attempt by British fighters and anti-aircraft guns.

Three of the raiders, seeking to slip through, were reported shot down. German planes were "heavily engaged" over Surrey, and enemy planes were reported to have crashed at Oxford, Godstone, Tadworth and Ealing.

The Nazis were favored in their attacks by dense cloud banks. Today's new attacks came in the wake of all-night raids on the capital in which large fires were started in the financial section of the city.

Third-Term Fakery

Washington, Sept. 28. IN this effort to smash the American anti-third-term tradition there are two outstanding pieces of fakery. One, of course, is the pretense that Mr. Roosevelt was "drafted" for his third nomination. The other is the President's pose that he personally is taking no active part in his own campaign.

THE plain fact about these is that Mr. Roosevelt "drafted" himself, and is the managing director of his own campaign, not only mapping out general strategy but devoting himself to various details and conferring with State politicians about their "local situation."

Executive Committee of Makefield P. T. A. Meets

MAKEFIELD, Sept. 30—A meeting of the executive committee of Lower Makefield P. T. A. was held at "Happy Daze," home of the president, Warren F. Bietsch, Silver Lake Terrace. Members attending were Miss Edith A. Bigelow, secretary; Mrs. H. S. Magid, treasurer, and Mrs. James Fitzcharles, vice-president.

The second Tuesday evening of each month was selected for the monthly meeting. The first meeting of the season will come on October 8th, when William Huben, George School, will be the speaker. The Angelus Chorus of Trenton will present a group of songs.

CHALLENGES ISSUED TO CHURCH ON ANNIVERSARY

Dr. H. C. Leonard and Rev. W. Vernon Middleton Speak at Hulmeville

GREAT NEEDS STRESSED

HULMEVILLE, Sept. 30—Challenges to give all aid within their power in the advance of Christianity were issued to members and friends of Ne-shaminy Methodist Church, yesterday, when two special sermons inaugurated services commemorating the 100th anniversary of the church.

"The Nation for Christ" and "The City for Christ" were the titles of sermons, by Dr. H. C. Leonard, of the General Conference Mission Board; and the Rev. W. Vernon Middleton, superintendent of the Philadelphia Society, respectively.

The anniversary services, which will continue for two weeks, are in charge of the pastor, the Rev. Wilmer E. Harkness.

Dr. Leonard, a native of the Southwest, stated he is "impressed that the Methodist Churches in the East have had something to do with the progress of Methodism in the world. If the world is going to be touched by Christ it will be through your hand. I am impressed also that we have a contribution to make to our nation, and through

United In Marriage
In St. Ann's Church

The marriage of Miss Louise Latini, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bartolomew Latini, Brook street, and Mr. John Osereduk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Osereduk, Haines Road, Edgely, occurred yesterday at three p. m., in St. Ann's Church, with the Rev. Father Peter Pinci as the officiating priest. Mr. Latini gave his daughter in marriage. Wedding marches were played on the church organ; and the vocalist was Miss Yolanda DeFelle.

Miss Julia Mariani, Lincoln avenue, and Miss Mary Loizi, Morrisville, attended the former Miss Latini as bridesmaids; and the best man was Mr. William Roy, Philadelphia.

The bride's gown for the ceremony was of white satin, it featuring a train. This was set off by a veil of net with trim of lace, attached to a crown of rhinestones and pearls. Her slippers were of white satin, and she carried lilies.

The Misses Mariani and Loizi were gowned in light rose taffeta, the dresses being floor length. Picture hats of felt with satin streamers matched their gowns, and their slippers were of rose-toned satin. They carried arm bouquets of mixed flowers.

A reception followed the ceremony, this taking place in Sons of Italy hall. For a week's honeymoon trip to New York City, Mrs. Osereduk wore a black velvet suit, with blouse of black and white, black felt hat, and black accessories. Her corsage was of white roses. The newly-weds will make their home with the groom's parents.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

"Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc."

The White House is his real political headquarters. These are crude fakes, so transparent that they ought not to deceive anyone. Yet they are basic in the third-term thesis.

BUT, in addition, there are a number of smaller fakes, which combine to make this third Roosevelt campaign one of the most dishonest ever heard of. Literally, it reeks with false pretense. For example, there is the story spread by Administration sources that there no longer is such a thing as a Roosevelt Brain Trust; that Mr. Thomas Corcoran and Mr. Benjamin Cohen have practically been banished from the White House; that they are no longer "close" to the President; that Mr. Roosevelt is a "changed" man, whose advisers are of a more mature and conservative type.

TWO EDGELY HOMES
RIFLED; JEWELRY
AND GUNS STOLEN

Thief or Thieves Enter Homes of Herman Michel, Jr., and Frederick Carter

LOOT ESTIMATE, $520.00

Watches, Rings, Pins Are Also Taken; Search Made For Finger-Prints

EDGELY, Sept. 30—Two Edgely families were robbed of jewelry and three firearms Saturday evening, when the residences of Frederick Carter and Herman Michel, Jr., both of First avenue, were ransacked by a thief or thieves.

Among the loot taken at the Carter home was a 20-gauge hammerless double-barrel shotgun, a 20 gauge double-barrel shotgun, and a revolver. Jewelry stolen brought the total loss in this household to approximately $400, state Pennsylvania Motor Police of Oxford Valley barracks, and Bucks County Detective Anthony Russo, who made investigations.

At the Michel home, rings, watches, pins, necklaces, valued at about $120, were missing when the family made a check-up. Among the loot were watches valued as heirlooms.

The robberies are believed to have occurred between 7.30 and 10.30 Saturday evening. The Michel family notified officials, and it was while this investigation was in progress that the Carters returned home and discovered that their house, next to the Michel dwelling, had also been ransacked during the evening.

Entrance to the Michel property was evidently gained by key, it is reported; and the thief or thieves entered the Carter domain by means of a first-floor window which was unlocked.

Privates Jones and Mitchell, and Detective Russo are carrying on the investigation, with a search being made for finger-prints.

HARRY J. MOLDEN DIES;
RESIDENT HERE 50 YEARS

Well-Known Resident Conducted Undertaking Business For Many Years

DECEASED 80 YEARS OLD

Death this morning claimed a well-known resident of Bristol when Harry J. Molden died at his home, 542 Bath street, shortly before four o'clock. Mr. Molden was 80 years of age.

Mr. Molden had been a resident of Bristol for over 50 years and during most of that time was engaged in the undertaking business here. During the past few years he had not enjoyed the best of health and for the past month had been ill. His son, George, had succeeded to the undertaking business which his father conducted here for many years.

The deceased was a member of Bucks Lodge, No. 1169, Loyal Order of Moose, and of Bridesburg Lodge, I. O. O. F.

In addition to his wife, Katie, Mr. Molden is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Emma Fischer, Peekskill, N. Y.; three sons, George, Harry, Jr., and Walter.

Funeral services will be private at the Molden funeral chapel Thursday morning. Friends may call Wednesday evening from seven until nine o'clock.

The Rev. Howard L. Zepp, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will officiate.

Landreth Seeds Win Local Series Contest Over Mulholland's A. A. Nine

GAME ENDS IN 3-0 SCORE

Lonnie Heisler, pitching for the Landreth Seeds against Johnnie Mulholland's Bristol A. A. team yesterday missed pitching a no-hit, no-run game by the narrowest of margins when the Farmers won 3-0.

Heisler pitched seven hitless innings and two were out in the eighth before Stanley Dick topped one of his pitches—which rolled lazily down the third base line—and beat the throw by an eyelash for their only hit. Eleven of the A's succumbed via strikes and in only one inning, the first, did they threaten to score. Oppman in this inning was safe when David allowed his easy roller to go through his legs. Dewnap sacrificed, Griggs to David, who covered first. Oppman made third when Palowez grounded to David. Harrison reached first on balls but Stallone bounced to Weboskey for a force out on the first pitch. After this inning only three got to first base. Oppman reached first on balls in the 6th and Palowez in the ninth and Dick's hit in the eighth.

Meanwhile the Seeds in a business sort of way tallied two runs in the first and added another in the sixth. Breslin started the first, with a base on balls advanced on Rossi's sacrifice and after Miksis struck out, crossed when Costello blasted one to left centre for two bases. Harwi's hard rap through Oppman counted Costello.

Stanley Dick pitched a swell game outside of this first inning, holding Landreth team to three hits for the

Miss Viola Monaco Placed
On The Dean's Honor List

Dr. Ruth L. Higgins, Dean of Beaver College, has announced that Viola Monaco, McKinley street, is on the dean's honor list for the present year as she attained a grade point ratio of 2.5 or better for the second semester ending June, 1940.

Miss Monaco is one of five girls in the present junior class who have received this highest academic honor attainable by undergraduates.

John T. Baron Weds
Miss Olga V. Koshman

A church wedding during the week-end united Miss Olga V. Koshman, daughter of Mrs. Mary Koshman, 238 Hayes street, and Mr. John T. Baron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Baron, 187 McKinley street. The nuptials occurred in St. Mark's edifice yesterday at two o'clock in the afternoon.

The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Father Albert Glass; and presiding at the organ console was Miss Katherine Keating, Linden street.

The bride's attire for the ceremony was a gown of velvety satin, which had sweet-heart neck-line, leg o' mutton sleeves, form-fitting bodice, and long, full skirt with a train. Upon her head was a tiara of seed pearls and sequins, from which was draped a veil of white tulle. She wore white satin sandals, and carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Esther Koshman, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid for the occasion, with Miss Violet Baron, sister of the groom, as maid of honor. Miss Koshman wore acacia rose, and Miss Baron light rose. The dresses were fashioned of taffeta with trim of velvet. Hands of velvet ribbon encircled the floor-length skirts, and down the left side of each skirt were velvet roses. The necklines were sweet-heart style, and the tight bodices had short sleeves. On the petals of roses which formed tiaras, were brilliants. Silver slippers were worn, and each attendant carried bouquets of mixed flowers.

Mr. John Pollack, Cleveland street, served Mr. Baron as best man, and the usher was Mr. Fred Schmidt, Trenton, N. J.

Dinner was served to 100 guests during a reception at Dick's Hall, Edgely. Mr. Baron and bride are participating in a motor trip to Virginia. They will be gone for one week. Mrs. Baron wore for the journey a two-piece jacket ensemble of beige wool, the jacket having sleeves of beaver. Her hat was of brown felt, accessories of brown, and she wore a corsage of tea roses.

The newly-weds will reside at 236 Hayes street.

RETURN TO HOME HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Juno and daughter, Regina, Wood street, have returned home after spending three weeks with Mr. and Mrs. James Orlando, Hazleton.

Bucks County's deathtoll by highway accidents mounted by five over the week-end, when four men were killed instantly, and one died four hours after admission to a hospital. Three of those whose lives were so quickly snuffed out were involved in one crash.

The victims include: Frederick Reeves, 33, of 387 Pond street, Bristol, husband of Laura Reeves.

Luigi Calibro, aged 47, Poplars Inn, Langhorne R. D.

Earl Winters, 25, South Main street, New Hope.

James McCoy, River House, New Hope.

Frank Rath, River House, New Hope.

The latter three, all said to be in their twenties, were killed in a crash on River Road, Yardley borough, early this morning. Two others in the car are patients in Mercer Hospital, Trenton, N. J., to which institution they were taken by a Yardley physician, Dr. Richard J. Harwell, who pronounced the trio dead when he arrived at the scene of the accident.

The injured in the that crash are: Miss Helen Evans, New Hope, who suffered lacerations of the body and face, and possible internal injuries;

Frank Burck, aged about 25 years, River House, New Hope, operator of the station wagon in which the five were en route from Trenton to New Hope. Burck has lacerations and bruises and suffers from shock. The two injured were both unconscious for a time.

As the machine reached a point on River Road, within the Yardley borough limits. It ran off the thoroughfare, struck a tree, and overturned.

Corporal Evans and Private Minker, of Oxford Valley barracks, Pennsylvania Motor Police, investigated, and Dr. James P. Lawler, deputy coroner of Bucks County, was also summoned to view the bodies of those killed.

It is stated that Winters is married and the father of two children. The other men are said to be single.

Reeves, the Bristol man who met death by accident during the week-end, is said to have been walking home following a visit to his mother-in-law who is ill in Burlington, N. J. He was instantly killed, having sustained a fracture of the skull and other injuries.

At about 2.30 yesterday morning, John Mortimer, Jr., Bensalem Township, and a companion, Mr. Slavin, entered Bristol police station, and informed officers they had struck some-

U. S. POPULATION GROWS

The job of counting noses has been completed at last, and it is disclosed that 131,409,881 persons reside in the United States. That is a lot of people to be living together in peace, maintaining their liberties, and governing themselves. But although 8,634,835 head have been added to the count since 1930, the rate of increase during the last decade has been the smallest in the nation's history—only 7 per cent. From 1920 to 1930, the per cent of increase was more than twice as great, 16.1 per cent.

A falling birth rate plus drastic restrictions on immigration account for most of this decline in growth. Sociologists have been predicting that the time would come when the population of the U. S. would become static. The present guess is that about 1970 or 1980 the nation will have a fixed population of approximately 150,000,000.

It is rather interesting to note how the several states fared during the last decade. Florida showed the greatest percentage increase, but California gained most in actual numbers. Not only are they winter playground states, but they have the most extensive state publicity programs. Florida has even shaped its legislation to attract northern residents, while California, after similar experiments, had to apply the brakes to check the rush of the Eldorado hunters.

Most of the dust bowl states showed decreases—Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oklahoma and South Dakota. Rather curiously, the only other state that experienced a decline was Vermont. New York still leads the van in total population, and is second in numerical increase since 1930.

Equally interesting are the changes in the figures for various sections of the country. In 1930 the South had less than 31 per cent of the total population; in 1940 it accounted for almost 44 per cent of the total increase. Ten years ago the Pacific and Mountain states had scarcely 10 per cent; this year they showed more than 22 per cent of the decade's increase. The North and the East are growing at a slower rate than other sections.

These changes indicate that Americans still possess some of the restlessness of their pioneer forefathers. Instead of settling down for life in some community, followed by their children and grandchildren they seek new fields in which to find adventure or better their fortunes. Their children scatter to all corners of the country. So long as it doesn't lead to dispersion of effort and lack of persistence in a chosen work, this urge itself represents a kind of growth. Americans still have faith in new frontiers for human endeavor.

Gone With the Wind is to be put on the air—in ten-minute snatches—as a serial, which seems to be conclusive proof that the folks behind it are convinced that the radio is here to stay.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By Courier Staff Member

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Jan. 2, 1879. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

The river was brightly dotted on New Year's Day with hosts of gay young men and maidens, merrily skating over the silvery sleet of its ice-covered waters. Thousands busy were the ice-gatherers who are despoiling the broad surface of Silver Lake of its winter overcoat, to be retailed in shining lumps next summer, when the Frost King is laid low and the Dog star rageth.

The fumes from the red fire, used in one of the tableaux last Tuesday evening, affected the throats of the audience in such an unpleasant manner that its use will be dispensed with in any of the tableaux given at Washington Hall, this evening.

Joseph Bloomsburg, Jr., while skating on the river last Monday, broke in and made a narrow escape from drowning.

Last Thursday evening, a coal oil lamp in Stockton's barber shop set fire to the cup rack and window casings.

Messrs. C. W. and J. Peirce yesterday paid off their employees in gold.

There were over 150 deaths in Bristol last year.

Williamson hall, at Fallsington, will be formally opened on Saturday, January 4th, 1879, at 10 a. m., with appropriate exercises. Several eminent speakers will be in attendance. A grand dinner, with oysters in abundance will be served on the European plan, all through the afternoon and evening, at reasonable rates. Musical and literary entertainments will be continued through the day and evening. . . . proceeds for the benefit of the Fallsington Library Company.

DOYLESTOWN—The court room in the new court house which Judge, Jury and lawyers are so ready to leave when a storm of any severity comes up, has been complained of because of its imperfect acoustic arrangements and as the Grand Jury of the last term of Court advised that some plan be devised to remedy the defect, the County Commissioners wrote to architect Hutton in regard to the matter. . . . The affairs of the almshouse are still attracting considerable attention. There will in a few days be a new steward to elect, and although it is generally conceded that David S. Fetter, the present occupant of the position, will be his own successor, it is not positively certain. . . . On Monday, Jury Commissioner McBrien, of Bristol, and his colleague, Commissioner Michener, with Judge Watson's help, filled the jury wheel with seven hundred names. They began at 11 o'clock in the morning and did not finish until seven in the evening. Sheriff Reinhart then, in the presence of the two commissioners, drew the jury list for the February term of court. Bristol is represented in the list by Robert Holt and Robert W. Brooks, as grand jurors; William H. Paxson, Dr. Purcell and William Holt as traverse jurors for the first week; Edmund Lawrence, Joseph T. Kinsey and William Tyrol, as traverse jurors for the second week. . . .

The Temperance Lyceum meeting on Monday night last, was well attended, the house being comfortably filled. The program of exercises was an excellent one, and the performances were received by the large audience with evident satisfaction. . . .

Judge Watson will deliver a free lecture for the Y. M. C. A., on Friday evening next, in Johnson's hall, Humeville, and will give his impressions of "The Old Country."

or less along these lines into most of the papers of the country. A good many people took them seriously, however, that this was just another clever little piece of third-term fakery. The Brain Trust and the Corcoran-Cohen combination were obvious campaign targets for the opposition. The Messrs. Corcoran and Cohen had become political liabilities in 1940 just as Dr. Rexford Tugwell had in 1936.

CLEARLY, it was good policy to remove them as targets during the campaign. It would leave the enemy less to shoot at, obviate one source of rather widespread irritation. Hence, promulgation of the idea that the Brain Trust had been abolished, the Messrs. Corcoran and Cohen relegated to the rear and the President "changed" in his outlook. There are those who believed at the time that this interesting thought had been conceived and planted by the Corcoran-Cohen team itself. It seems likely. At any rate, it is unadulterated bunk.

THERE has been no change in the relations between Mr. Roosevelt and the Corcoran-Cohen team. They are as close as ever. So far from going out of existence, all that has happened to the Brain Trust is that it has been expanded to take in a few more literary left-wingers like Mr. Lowell Mellet and Mr. Laughlin B. Currie. It functions as before and Mr. Roosevelt is not one whit more conservative than he has been. His advisers are the same. So is his disposition. The effort to convey the other impression is simply another little piece of calculated campaign deceit.

AS for Mr. Corcoran, that the President's reliance upon his political sagacity remains unbroken is shown by the fact that, at Mr. Roosevelt's request, he will be at New York headquarters during the rest of the campaign. In order to avoid conflict with the Hatch Act, Mr. Corcoran has resigned as counsel of the RFC, which is his pay-roll job, but all that means is that he may relinquish one month's salary. Ostensibly, he is to help organize the "independents" for the third term.

ACTUALLY, he will be Mr. Roosevelt's personal political representative, with whom he is in close and constant telephonic communication. Mr. Corcoran is a likable and shrewd fellow. He possesses the President's complete confidence and unquestionably has been of great service to him. However, in the field of practical political manipulation his record has not been as successful as in others. It was, for example, Mr. Corcoran who advised and managed the great 1938 "purge" of Democratic Senators. And it was Mr. Corcoran who managed the boom of Attorney General Jackson for Governor of New York. And it was Mr. Corcoran who, as much as anyone, widened the breach between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Farley. None of these things hurt him with the President, who still regards "Tommy the Cork" as a very smart and smooth political manipulator. That is why he has put him in New York for the next five weeks.

ON THE SCREENS

GRAND THEATRE

A sure cure for the blues, rating a laugh a minute, opened at the Grand Theatre yesterday for an engagement of two days in "I Love You Again," co-starring William Powell and Myrna Loy.

Once again Myrna Loy is cast as William Powell's wife, but she's not the perfect spouse on this occasion. As a matter of fact, the usual procedure is reversed, with Powell forced to chase after her instead of the opposite. A strong supporting cast turning in top performances includes Frank McHugh as Powell's pal, "Doc" Ryan, Edmund Lowe as a slick oil promoter, Donald Douglas as the rival for Miss Loy's affections, and Nella Walker as her mother.

BRISTOL THEATRE

Yesterday's audiences at the Bristol Theatre were afforded a real treat when they viewed "Hell's Angels," starring Jean Harlow and Ben Lyon, and Charlie Chaplin's funniest comedy, "The Paper Hanger."

Howard Hughes, who produced "Hell's Angels" at a cost of $4,000,000, proved beyond a doubt that he possessed the spark of greatness by selecting Jean Harlow, until then an unknown actress, for the female lead—she became one of the most popular of all screen stars.

"The Paper Hanger" gave the older generation the opportunity to again laugh at Charlie Chaplin's inimitable pantomime and brought to those who never heard of the comedian, except through their elders, an actual "sample" of what has made him the greatest living actor of our time.

Republican Speakers Urge Defeat of Roosevelt, Election Of Entire Republican Ticket

based upon his record during the two years that he has served. James F. Malone, candidate for state treasurer, easily held the attention of the large audience as he described the interest shown at the recent meetings he had attended throughout the state. "These meetings show the very great significance and the quickened interest on the part of the people in the election of 1940." The speaker said that in his opinion this interest manifested by the people showed a very definite purpose on the part of the people to eliminate one and for all the influence of any man who dared to do what Thomas Jefferson and George Washington said was not good for America.

"The United States has always successfully solved its problems but unless we solve this third term issue on the 5th of November we will have changed our form of government."

"Germany, Russia and Italy went down the same dark road," said Malone. "If Roosevelt is re-elected we will have voted for our last president in the United States. And that is no putting it too strongly," said the speaker.

He then reviewed how Roosevelt was elected in 1932 and how following that he had set up law bureaus and departments to lead us out of economic stagnation. Then he told of the huge appropriations voted by Congress to carry on the work of these bureaus and departments. "President Roosevelt received great powers over the dispersing of this huge sum of money. Billions went into W. P. A., but you had to be a Democrat to get a job on the W. P. A. This permitted the building up of the greatest political machine this country has ever known."

The Un-Constitutional legislation by which Roosevelt would have been given greater power came in for comment. "The bills went through but many of them were declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court and thank God that we have a Supreme Court in the United States. Then the election of 1936 gave him a tremendous majority and a deep-seated conceit. He next attempted the Court packing bill which would have given him control over the courts of America to jam through any legislation that he wanted."

The attempt to seize control over the court was the same thing as practiced by Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin, pointed out Malone. "The people of the United States protested and the bill was voted down."

"Then came the attempt to pass 'the reorganization bill.' Had these measures gone through, in the opinion of Malone, President Roosevelt would have had control of the legislative and judicial branches of the government of the United States.

The attempted purge of those Democrats who voted against him and his orders that Wallace must be the Democratic candidate for Vice-President or else he (Roosevelt) would not run were spoken of.

"President Roosevelt knew of the neglect of the defenses of America and that the United States was in the throes of an emergency. Roosevelt knew that the United States was not adequately prepared to defend itself from attack."

"It is important to you, your children and the children who follow that the Republican ticket be elected so as to preserve the same American opportunity and principles that has been yours and mine," concluded the speaker.

Congressman Frederick L. Golders, candidate for auditor general, stressed the tremendous increase in the national debt at Washington which "haunted under Roosevelt," said the speaker. "You people here in Bucks County live in what might be termed 'the tariff belt.' You own your own homes. Do you know that the present administration has doubled the underlying mortgage on every home in the United States; that a lien has been placed on your insurance policy; and that a lien has been placed on the savings account that you have?"

Congressman Gelder said: "There is still 19 million of people unemployed in this country."

The speaker called attention to the fact that President Roosevelt practices a "policy of appeasement" and assured the people that he would give them prosperity and that there would be no increase in the national debt.

Criticism of President Roosevelt for characterizing himself as the "indispensable man" to take care of us in his crisis was made by Gelder.

The speaker said that in his opinion Roosevelt should have known seven years ago what Hitler was doing. If he didn't know the representatives of the United States abroad must have been very incompetent. But it is no wonder that he didn't know when he had such ambassadors as Earle, Cromwell and Biddle.

"The money which went into the W. P. A., which was a political grab-bag, could have been spent for preparedness."

"We are being regimented in the United States and we are going the European way."

The fine showing made by the Republican Administration of Governor Arthur H. James in Pennsylvania was commented upon, and Congressman Gelder told of the increased number of employment in this state and the huge amount being saved in relief.

Jay Cooke received a spontaneous vote of accord, when, in characterizing Roosevelt and the present administration he declared, "It takes a man with a lot of ego to believe that in a nation of 130,000,000 people he's the only one who can fill his job."

A candidate at the coming November election for the office of United States Senator from Pennsylvania, Cooke also stated that Joseph Guffey, incumbent U. S. Senator from Pennsylvania, has the same philosophy as Roosevelt.

"Guffey thinks as Roosevelt tells him," Cooke said. "He is nothing more than a human ditto machine."

"I believe in representative government to the extent that a public official should represent the people who elected him, and not take orders from others contrary to this principle. That is where Guffey and I differ. I believe in the representative form of government as it has been in the past."

"There is one other difference between Guffey and myself," Cooke said. "I don't owe the government any back income taxes."

"I don't believe that I am indispensable to the post I seek in the November election. There are other able Republicans who could fill the seat very well. But they must be men who will represent the voters who elected them, and not men who will take orders from a boss not connected with the voters."

"This is the first time that I have ever run for public office and I don't intend to start with a defeat."

Cooke, who deserves great credit for swinging Philadelphia from the Democratic column to the Republican column, told of his observations during the past month on his visits to 33 counties in Pennsylvania. He declared that new registrations are coming in by the overwhelming majority of 8 to 1 in favor of the Republicans. He also stated that there is not one county he visited where the Republicans are not decisively running ahead in registrations.

"Contrary to what the Gallup polls would have us think of the situation in Philadelphia, the facts are that we now have a lead of 179,000 over the Democrats there," Cooke remarked. "As a matter of fact, I have yet to meet anyone who has been questioned in the Gallup polls, or have I met anyone who has met anyone that has been questioned in these polls. And I feel sure that we'll definitely convince our poll-takers that they were considerably off after November 5th."

Speaking of broken promises made by leaders of the present administration in their campaign, Cooke declared that the hypocrisy and deceit practiced has been outrageous. Giving just two illustrations of this Cooke pointed out the broken promises that were made to cut down Federal expenses and the curtailment of the national debt.

Giving a brief word picture of the preparedness situation in this country, particularly in the Pennsylvania National Guard, the speaker, who spent considerable time training and investigating this summer, remarked that as far as national defense is gone we have none yet. And equipment in the Pennsylvania National Guard—they have two or three of everything in outmoded articles, Cooke said.

"Here we are today with the hounds of war baying all around us, with a chip on either shoulder, daring Japan and the European autocracies to knock them off, but—knowing full well that if the chips were knocked off and we stooped to pick them up we would get an awful kick in the pants. And simply because of the laxity in our national defense preparations. As a matter of fact, we have no national defense today."

Marriage Of Miss LaRue And Mr. Betts Event Of Interest

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Taylor LaRue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. LaRue, Radcliffe street, to Mr. Clyde Sheldon Betts, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde S. Betts, of New York City, took place at six o'clock Saturday evening in the Abington Friends Meeting House, Jenkintown.

The musician for the wedding was Dorothy Johnston Baseler, harpist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of satin which had been worn by her mother on her wedding day. Her bouquet was orchids and lilies-of-the-valley. A band of Duchess lace which formed the headress for the net veil, matched the wide berth of the gown.

The maid of honor, Miss Edith Scott Sullivan, of Elkins Park, wore a gown of American beauty velvet, and carried a bouquet of roses and delphinium.

The bridesmaids, Miss Norma Betts, New York, sister of the groom; Miss Elizabeth Hartley, of Newtown, and Mrs. Charles Glaspey, of Philadelphia, wore horizon blue gowns of the same design as that of the maid of honor. The attendants wore flowers in their hair.

The bride's mother wore a deep blue velvet gown, and a corsage of orchids; and the groom's mother wore burgundy lace with orchids.

Mr. Theodore Miller, of New York City, served as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Marshall Douglas, of New York; Mr. Arthur H. Silvers, of Rutherford, N. J.; Mr. Franklin C. Wood, of Langhorne, and Mr. Herbert K. Taylor, Jr., of Elkins Park.

A reception took place at the Old York Road Country Club.

Upon their return from a wedding trip, Mr. Betts and his bride will reside at 309 Radcliffe street.

The bride is a graduate of George School, Newtown, and of Drexel Institute, Philadelphia. Mr. Betts graduated from New York University, he being employed by Manhattan Soap Company.

Elwood P. Goslin Dies After Several Years' Illness

Elwood P. Goslin, of 510 Radcliffe street, who had been ill for a number of years, died in Philadelphia yesterday in his 53rd year.

Mr. Goslin, who had made Bristol his home for many years, attended Bristol public schools, and for 30 years was employed in the accountancy department of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He was affiliated with Bristol Lodge, No. 970, B. P. O. Elks.

The deceased is survived by his wife, Vera Vansant Goslin; a son, Elwood Fulmer Goslin; and two sisters, Mrs. H. L. Danfield, Beaver street; and Mrs. Frank Burton, Fallington.

The funeral on Wednesday at two p. m., at the Ruel funeral home, 314 Cedar street, will be private. Interment will be in Bristol Cemetery, and friends may call Tuesday evening.

Rev. A. D. Sargis Marks Ordination Anniversary

EDDINGTON, Sept. 30—The Rev. Arthur D. Sargis observed the sixth anniversary of his ordination to the Christian ministry and installation as pastor of the Eddington Presbyterian Church, at the morning service of that church yesterday.

In the course of his sermon entitled "I Marvel," the pastor read his ordination vows and reaffirmed the answers that he gave six years ago.

The church flowers, given by Mrs. Sargis, consisted of six American Beauty roses, which signified the anniversary year.

Challenges Issued To Church On Anniversary

our nation to the whole world. . . . Wherever the sun is touching the earth today there is spring into life songs of praise from our Methodist churches.

"Today we are thinking in worldwide terms. But in answering the needs at home, we are answering the needs of the world." The great need for spread of the Gospel of Jesus Christ was uppermost in the mind of the speaker of the morning, who told of the millions not in touch with any kind of church. Two points discoursed upon were: How the needs have shaped up in various social groups of the world; and how what has been done in America for Christ has reached across the seas. "It is the tie of love, not the tie of fear, that can bind one nation to another," he added. "Your church here in Hulmeville has through the years been trying to reveal the character and life and the love of Christ. There is a great motive back of it all. It is because of the love for Christ which must express itself in love."

Miss Helen Harkness was the morning vocal soloist; with a number by the church choir, under direction of Miss Clara L. Illick.

Last evening the Rev. Middleton, in delivering the sermon "The City for Christ," out of his wealth of experience in missionary activity in Philadelphia, impressed upon his hearers the greatness of the need for spread of the Word of God, and the alleviation of suffering. He told of criticism offered by some groups in years gone by of the fact there were 1,000 churches in the city of Philadelphia. "But today there are 3,000 taprooms, and in one block where there is one mission are to be found 22 saloons." How men of two denominations in one "red-light" district of Philadelphia, were forced to form a vigilante band was told of. These church members station themselves 35 feet apart in the areas on church nights, so women and children will be protected in going to and from the edifice.

Although growth of crime is terrific in Philadelphia, the Rev. Middleton pointed out one bright phase, that juvenile crime is being checked. He pointed out how some denominations are trying to meet the problems, others are doing little or nothing. "As Almighty God looks down on our streets, I believe he is weeping." "As long as little children go cold and hungry, the great heart of God will yearn for our plight. We are the saddest people in the world; we laugh the most, but I suspect the laughter denotes our hearts are empty. We have more concern for the radio than for the program of God; for baseball than for the cause of Jesus Christ. It is a grave situation. We are blind to the needs of human hearts." Reminding of the need of a goal in life, the clergyman stated: "The reason Jesus Christ can make life vibrant is because he can teach us to tap the inner resources." Music last evening was provided by a mixed quartet from Mt. Airy, under direction of Herbert Rowe. The Rev. Harkness and Kimbel Faust provided instrumental accompaniment for hymns.

Two gifts to the church have been received: a mimeograph machine, the gift of Mrs. Edwin Lathrop, Philadelphia; and a guest registry, presented by LeRoy Edwards, Langhorne, in memory of his mother, Mrs. Henry R. Edwards.

The pulpit used in the old Neshaminy Church building years ago, was used yesterday morning in Sunday School session. Of the 125 present, 10 signified they had attended Sunday School in the old building, more than 36 years ago. The session was in charge of C. Wesley Haefner, superintendent, with Miss Marie Hanson leading the singing.

Ace Backfield Star, Bob

UPPER MORELAND, Sept. 30.—Taking full advantage of two breaks, coach George Reimer's Bensalem Owls made certainly a successful debut of their 1940 grid campaign by reversing the tables on a big and veteran Upper Moreland combination here Saturday afternoon, 12-0.

The Owls, playing without the services of their ace backfield star and quarterback, captain Bob Scarborough, looked pretty fair in their initial start as they took the play to the home club's defense right from the out-set and outlasted their opponent in every phase of the game.

It was early in the first period that coach Reimer's boys set sail for U. M.'s goal line with Henry Killian and George Carter along with Dick Mossbrook playing the main roles as they did in the Owls' backfield all afternoon. Killian, taking over the passing job in place of the injured Scarborough, tossed a short flip over the line to Carter, his little colored team mate, who grabbed the oval on his own 47 yard line, broke to the right sideline and raced some 50 yards down field before being spilled out of bounds on Upper Moreland's three yard marker.

Then late in the second canto, the Blue and Gold started a march into Owl territory. Starting at mid-field after a punt exchange, the home team, reeled off two consecutive first downs which featured a 20 yard gallop by Bob Dougherty on an off tackle slant to bring the ball down to the Owls' ten yard stripe.

The third period was uneventful with most of the action being centered around mid-field and featuring some fine punting by the Owls right winger, Gene Ashton, who kept the home forces on the defense through most of the canto.

However, the break that ultimately led to the Owls' first score came about midway in the final quarter when Henry Killian recovered an enemy fumble on Upper Moreland's 40 yard marker. It didn't lead directly to Bensalem's initial six-pointer, but it paved the way a moment later after a punt exchange.

For it was from the 40 yard line that the Owls launched the attack that netted the touchdown. Featuring a pass completed from Hank Killian to Dick Colbert good for ten yards, the Owls clicked off a pair of first downs that set the ball on the 20 from where Killian tossed another pass to Dick Mossbrook, who took it on the 15 and with the aid of some good blocking ran over the final chalk line standing up to score easily. Joe Waldron's attempt to add the extra point through a line play failed.

Shortly after that the Owls struck again to put the game out of reach of the home club. Trying desperately in the waning minutes of the contest to knot the score, the Morelanders took to the ozone after receiving the kick-off and returning it only to their own five yard line. On the very first attempt, Hank Killian grabbed the leather on U. M.'s 35 yard line and raced it back 10 yards before being downed. After two cracks at the line, Dick Mossbrook picked up 15 yards, kicked his own right end to place the piskin on the two yard line from where Killian cracked off tackle to go over the final chalk line and thereby bring the count up to its final reading—12-0 Bensalem.

The Owls outgained Upper Moreland on the ground, 111 yards to 15, outgained them in the air by 108 yards to 24 and chalked up 12 first downs as compared to three for Toots Pannacion's outfit.

BLOOMER GIRLS RALLY TO DEFEAT ROHM & HAAS

A last ditch rally by the Morrisville Bloomer Girls gave them a 10-9 soft-shell victory over the Rohm & Haas team of the mechanical department, yesterday afternoon on the Maple Beach diamond.

The chemical workers possessed a 6-6 lead going into the last frame when the girls went to work on the softness of "Herm" Schmidt. Before Shiffy could check the bloomer folks four runs had scampered across the plate on five hits and this was enough for a girls' triumph.

FALLS ALUMNI OPENS SEASON WITH VICTORY

MORRISVILLE, Sept. 30.—The Falls Alumni eleven opened its 1940 gridiron season with a close 7-6 victory over the Somerton A. A. team yesterday afternoon before a large crowd on Island field.

The Alumni team, coached by Jimmy Doheny and Mike DeRisi of the Fallsington high school coaching squad, had to fight an uphill battle to snatch the victory as the Somerton team scored first and with the defense exhausted by them it seemed as if the Alumni boys were going down to defeat.

NORRISTOWN A. A. BLANKS DIAMOND

ANDALUSIA, Sept. 30.—A much stronger Norristown A. A. team spoiled the 1940 football inaugural for the Diamond Sporting Club eleven yesterday afternoon before a large crowd on Mitchell's field. Final score stood: Norristown, 6; Diamond, 0.

Although the Diamond line withstood a constant pounding by the Norristown backs, it was a forward pass which was the winning play of the game. The pass, from the hand of Halfback Shippe to Wingman Ferri was good for twenty yards and came in the second quarter of the game.

Only the fact that Coach Diamanti made consistent good use of his reserve linemen prevented the score from mounting as the visitors possessed plenty of punch but could not penetrate the Diamond forward wall. In first downs, the local boys were ahead, 6-5, and also were one better in the forward passing completing four out of twelve with the Norristown team completing three in the same number of tries. However, one of the three was the winning touchdown.

The victory was the fifteenth straight for the Norristown eleven which had an undefeated record last season.

LANGHORNE LOSES TO MT. HOLLY ELEVEN

By Jack Gill

Big Bob Huchison, powerful plunging left halfback of Coach Doug Fischer's Mt. Holly High School eleven, personally accounted for three touchdowns against Langhorne at Mt. Holly Saturday afternoon as the home team clan pounded the weak Lower Bucks squad into a 40 to 6 defeat.

Tallying on a reverse around left end from the sixteen yard line in the opening minutes, from the 42 yard line on a cutback through tackle in the second quarter and on a 33 yard toss from Art Crawshaw in the third canto, he was the whole show. Langhorne's only tally came during the final stages of the fray when Warren Gotwal tossed a sharp aerial to substitute LeRoy Slater.

Langhorne has not scored a major football victory since Thanksgiving Day 1938, when they handed Newtown a 6 to 0 defeat. Last week they tied Lower Moreland, 6-6. During Saturday's Rio Sodano, a guard, suffered a dislocated shoulder.

LARRY LANE TO TRADE PUNCHES WITH OVERLIN

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 30.—Larry Lane, Trenton's negro light-heavyweight, will get his second chance to advance up the pugilistic ladder when he trades punches with Ken Overlin, world's middleweight champion, in an over-the-weight, non-title bout on the opening show of the 1940-41 indoor boxing season at the Arena this evening.

Lane has everything to gain and little to lose should he manage to shade the champion. Lane, by winning, would attract nationwide attention in fistic fields.
Overlin's most recent triumph was a decision over Eddie Pierce in Norfolk, Va., last week. Overlin entrained for Trenton immediately after the bout and will reside here permanently.
In the revamped semi-windup, Angelo (Tony) Magliano will tangle with Vince DeLis in an all-Trenton "natural." Both boys are former amateur boxers and can be counted on to provide the fans with plenty of action.

A six-rounder will pit Johnny Beaton, of Bay Head, N. J., against Leonard Hayes, husky Trenton negro. This will be Beaton's first pro fight and if his performances in the amateur ranks are any criterion he should attract a steady following.
Two other sixes will send Charley Reuch, of Trenton, in quest of his 14th straight victory when he meets slugger Sammy Cord, of Trenton, while another six will find Ike Williams, Trenton negro featherweight, battling Pete Kelly, of Riverside.

Another four rounder will complete the card. Prices for this show only are $2.20 for ringside seats, $1.65 for reserved seats and 88 cents in the balcony.

balance of the game. Through no fault of Dick's they put across a run in the 6th. Miksis in this inning safe on Palowez' miff of Harrison's low throw. Costello forced him at second then advanced to third when Harwi singled. David forced Harwi. On a delayed steal David was trapped between first and second but in the meantime Costello scored before David was tagged out.

Bill Harwi led the Landreth team at bat, making two hits and reaching first, once on balls, for a perfect day. Oppman fielded well for the A's, making seven assists at third base.

The game was the third and deciding game for the local championship. Landreth won the first game 7-3, lost a week ago 2-1 and came back yesterday with a 3-0 score.
It was the final game of the 1940 baseball season.
The umpiring of yesterday's game was handled by John Downey and David Shullman from the Phila. League in a satisfactory manner, neither side disputing any of the decisions although some were very close.

"And the only remedy for this is to put men in charge of government who at least know something about something," Cooke added.

"Federal power has grown terrifically during the last seven and one-half years. Business has been shackled. The unemployment problem is as acute today as it was in 1932. Free enterprise has been driven out. The weight of Federal power and Federal money press hard on the voter. It is up to you to think seriously of this November election. If you are neglectful then in 1944 you may get a one-way ballot. The task is squarely on your shoulders.

"Willkie is our salvation. Work with him and for him. I know that he will have those who will work with him from Pennsylvania.

"And I know now definitely that if we all do our parts that after November 5th we will be able to sit back and say, 'We won with Willkie.'

Cooke urged all those who possibly can to see and hear Willkie when he comes to Philadelphia next week. "He is the Moses that will lead us out of the wilderness that we have been in. And with the GOP vice-presidential candidate, Charles McNary, to aid him we will start back on the road to recovery and freedom of enterprise that we once enjoyed."

Cooke warned that a third term for President Roosevelt might terminate "free elections" in this Nation.

Cooke said that in view of the rising Federal power under the New Deal "it is an open question" whether the 1940 Presidential balloting will constitute a "free election."

Replying to President Roosevelt's assertions that a dictatorship in the Nation is impossible in the United States as long as there are "free elections," Cooke said:

"There are millions who believe that this may be the last free election in America if Mr. Roosevelt wins in November."

"We have seen 10 million remain unemployed and kept dependent on government for their daily bread for seven years. We have been told that we can't beat the massed millions of Federal dependents and New Deal job holders—that we can't beat the massed billions of Federal money."

"It is an open question right now whether this is a free election. The weight of Federal money and Federal power presses hard on the voters. Give the New Deal another four years."

Bill Harwi led the Landreth team at bat, making two hits and reaching first, once on balls, for a perfect day. Oppman fielded well for the A's, making seven assists at third base.
